```
Loading vc-cvs...
package caltool.view_ui;

import java.awt.*;
import java.awt.event.*;
import javax.swing.*;

/*
 *
 * Class DateNumberLabel extends JLabel.  It is used in monthly agendas and * weekly list-style views.  The typeface is bold black, with one space of
 * padding on each side of the text.
 *
 */
public class DateNumberLabel extends JLabel {

    /
     * Construct this with the given numeric date.
     */
    public DateNumberLabel(int dateNumber) {

        super(" " + Integer.toString(dateNumber) + " ");

        this.dateNumber = dateNumber;
        setFont(getFont().deriveFont(Font.BOLD));
        setForeground(Color.black);
        setBackground(Color.white);
        setOpaque(true);

    }

    /
     * Return this' date number.  This method is needed because the text of the * label has a space padded at the beginning and end, which renders the * label text not readily parseable to an int.  I.e., alas, * Integer.parseInt(label.getText())) fails if the label text contains a
     * leading space character.
     */
    public int getNumber() {
        return dateNumber;
    }

    / The numeric date number. */
    protected int dateNumber;

}
```